Sinister New Drug On Sale

A frightening story is evolving here from the growing use of a sinister, new hallucinatory drug: phencyclidine.

Youthful drug abusers are turning from other concoctions to phencyclidine because it produces the severest "trip" ever devised. Some say that by comparison, LSD is "pabulum."

The drug has been given the name "Angel's Dust" by the drug sub-culture after organized crime members introduced it to replace the dwindling market for marijuana, one narcotics authority reported.

Another authority called it the most dangerous of all hallucinatory drugs.

Phencyclidine was developed in France to be used as an anesthetic but it was put aside after it was found to be too dangerous to use. Of three manufacturers making it in this country, one ceased production while the other two manufacture it under closely controlled conditions. Its present use is for experimental use with animals through veterinarians.

The California Narcotics Bureau's Joe House, Supervising agent in San Diego, told of some of the macabre hazards accompanying the use of "angel's dust." In addition to taking users on trips from which some have never returned fully, the stuff is mixed with substances that would put Lucretia Borgia to shame.

Since it is made in clandestine laboratories and brought into the United States generally through the Mexican border, there is no control over its production.

It is peddled by salesmen who couldn't care less about the tragedy that follows its use. Peddlers are using embalming fluid, strychnine, mercury, and arsenic as mixing agents for various drugs, it was reported this week. Mercury and strychnine are found in STP and strychnine is found in LSD.

This indicates the disregard of criminals who peddle the stuff for those hooked on drugs of one sort or another and seek to get the "ultimate" trip. For many, the trip is to the hospital for mentally ill or the cemetery.

Another narcotics officer made a grim comparison regarding the various levels of enforcement today. Some courts have a policy of putting youngsters on probation even after the third time they are hauled in on a dangerous drug charge although the law is specific and provides for more meaningful penalties. Yet, courts crack down on fish producers whose product contains only a small fraction of the amount of mercury that has been found in some dangerous drugs. He suggested that food laws are more strongly enforced than criminal laws.

Under the State Health and Safety Code Section 11910, the penalty for a first repeater is a one-to-ten years sentence with a money penalty of $500 or more. Caught again, he faces two-to-twenty years. To a normal person any jail sentence is disgraceful. To a person in the throes of drug experimentation, the penalty seems unreal and almost non-existent.

It is indeed a paltry penalty by which society hopes to deter those who would wreck their own lives — and in the process would scar forever the lives of those who love them.

Such easy-to-pay penalties do little to convince abusers or sellers that use hazards are greater than the small penalties indicate.

But the distribution of dangerous drugs must be stopped. And it can be if courts take a bead on organized crime in this country. It would be even more helpful if the penalty of life imprisonment without hope of pardon were meted to those who peddle the stuff. Also, there are many of us who would support a death-by-hanging penalty for drug peddling.

Any way you look at it the life of one mark pusher is a small price to pay for the misery and death wreaked on too many drug abusers who are so naive or stupid as to heed the call of the dope peddling siren.

Dog's Owner Sought Here

By Debbie Bray

A Lemon Grove woman needs your help! Unless she finds the owner of the dog that bit her Friday night, she will have to undergo the painful series of rabies' shots.

The dog was described as small, dark brown and shaggy resembling a sheep dog.

Mrs. Rheo Demaree of 7330 Central, Lemon Grove, found the dog in her yard about midnight Friday and was bitten when she attempted to pick it up. The dog ran away leaving smears of blood indicating it had been injured.

If the dog is found and healthy, Mrs. Demaree will not have to take the shots and the owner will have done a great favor for a distraught woman.

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of this dog, contact Mrs. Rheo Demaree at 466-2491 or this newspaper immediately.

Grove Woman Jailed On 'Pot' Charge

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — A woman arrested on a marijuana charge arising from an incident when she was working at a Lemon Grove bar last week was put on three years' probation and ordered to spend 15 days in the county jail.

Faysene A. Anderson, who lived at 3444 Harris st., Lemon Grove, and worked at the Coral Inn Bar, 7346 Broadway, pleaded guilty on March 17 to possession of marijuana.

Undercover agents said Mrs. Anderson asked one of them on Oct. 7, "Are you the one who wanted to score a can?" Records state Mrs. Anderson introduced the agents to her 17-year-old daughter, who took them to the family home and from whom they obtained marijuana.

Mrs. Anderson spent six days in jail and was then released on her own recognizance. The daughter was turned over to juvenile authorities.

La Presa Rezone Brings 8-1 in 1-8 Home Area

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — The County Planning Commission on Friday ignored the advice of its staff and granted a rezoning and special use permit for a mobile home park in the La Presa area.

The location of the 31.5 acres is between Jamacha blvd. and State 54 and between La Presa and Omega streets.

The change is from A-1(8) to R-2, that is, from light agricultural to the duplex zone and the housing unit density is increased from one to eight acres to 8 to the acre.

The plot plan shows 242 spaces with a recreation center and play yard along with a small area for vehicle storage.

At the original hearing on March 19, there were protests but not in the mass fashion that would have impressed the commission.

The matter will go automatically to the County Board of Supervisors even if there is not a protest filed. The board must approve all zone changes, or deny them.

LG Fire Report

The Lemon Grove Fire Department answered three fire calls last week.

Highlighting the action was a grass fire at Massachusetts and Highway 94 April 18, and a car fire at the 3400 block of Buena Vista. No damage was reported as a result of the grass fire, but the car, a 1958 Austin, suffered $250 in damages.

The grass fire was caused by ashes from a nearby incinerator, while the car fire was the result of gas fumes ignited by sparks.

MISS LEMON GROVE — Miss Laura Jean Bolieu, 18, was chosen Miss Lemon Grove in the local beauty pageant held Saturday night at Lemon Grove Junior High School.

Learn Spanish the Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

By JAMES HARDISON

Is it true that there are two different ways to say "half" in Spanish? One source indicates "mitad" as the proper way to say "half" while another suggests "medio" to mean "half." Which one of these two is correct?

Both "medio" and "mitad" are correctly used to mean "half." "Mitad" is a noun form and may be used alone as seen in the expression "Quiere usted la mitad del pastel?" for "Do you want half of the cake?" In this example "la mitad" is a noun form. By contrast, "medio" is an adjective and may be used to modify a noun as indicated in "Es un medio pollo." for "It is half a chicken." In this example "medio" modifies "pollo" to change the concept of "chicken" to "half a chicken."

"Medio" must be changed to "media" when it modifies a feminine noun. A clear example of this may be seen in "Es una media silla." for "It is half a chair." The meaning of "chair" is modified to "half a chair" in this phrase.

"A medias" is an idiomatic expression which means "fifty-fifty" or "halves." An example of this is seen in "Vamos a medias." (Let's go fifty-fifty.) Also "Entraremos a medias en un negocio." (We will enter business on a fifty-fifty basis.)

"A medio camino" suggests "half way to a place." Thus we may say "Estamos a medio camino." for "We are half way there." We may also say "Estoy a medio camino del centro." to indicate "I am half way to downtown."

"En la mitad" suggests the meaning "in the middle." Thus "El auto esta en la mitad de la calle." From this we relay "The auto is in the middle of the street." as the intended message. Try practicing the following phrases with the recorded message heard when you dial 276-2762 on your telephone.

Say "Cual es mi mitad?" (koo-AHL ehs mee mee-TAHD)

for "Which is my half?"

Say "Su mitad esta en la mesa." (soo mee-TAHD eh-STAH ehn lah MEH-sah)

for "Your half is on the table."

Say "Estamos a medio camino?" (eh-STAH-mohs ah MEH-dee-oh kah-MEE-noh) for "Are we half way there?"

Say "Apenas empezamos." (ah-PEH-nah ehm-pah-SAH-mohs)

for "We scarcely have left."

Say "Quiere usted un medio pollo?" (kee-EH-reh oo-STEHD oon MEH-dee-oh POH-yoh)

for "Do you want half a chicken?"

Say "Quiero un medio pollo." (kee-EH-roh oon MEH-dee-oh POH-yoh)

for "I want a half a chicken."

Dear Editor:

Last week a forced air heater in my mobile home caught fire. It was seven minutes from the time I made the call to the Spring Valley Fire Department to the time the fire was out.

I have nothing but praise for the Fire Department for the quick response and courteous treatment they gave me.

Each and every man who made the run, together with the chief, performed his duties with efficiency and care. I just can't say enough about the fine handling of this crisis.

'Lifeline' Celebrates Anniversary

This week the YMCA Lifeline program is celebrating its second anniversary.

Lifeline is a free, voluntary, confidential and "no-bust" counseling service for youth and their parents.

A comparison of statistics showing the total number of calls in the first month of operation two years ago compared with what they are today is impressive.

During the first month of operation 559 people made voluntary contact with Lifeline. During March of this year, close to 2,000 people have taken advantage of the services of the program. Lifeline Director Peg Mayo said "these comparison figures justify the need for Lifeline."

The range of problems handled by Lifeline counselors is broad. The calls are about such things as sex, drugs, loneliness, pregnancy, the draft and family problems of all kinds.

Currently the Lifeline operation is running a $2,000 deficit. Contributions are welcomed from adults using the Lifeline service.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS — Camping was fun last summer for three girls from the Lemon Grove area who attended Camp Wolahi, the San Diego County Council of Camp Fire Girls' resident camp. Dorla Smith, left, Peggy Farness and Kathy Jones were among 880 campers attending the Cuyamaca camp in the summer of 1970. Registration for this summer opened April 3 — the first camp session starts July 4.

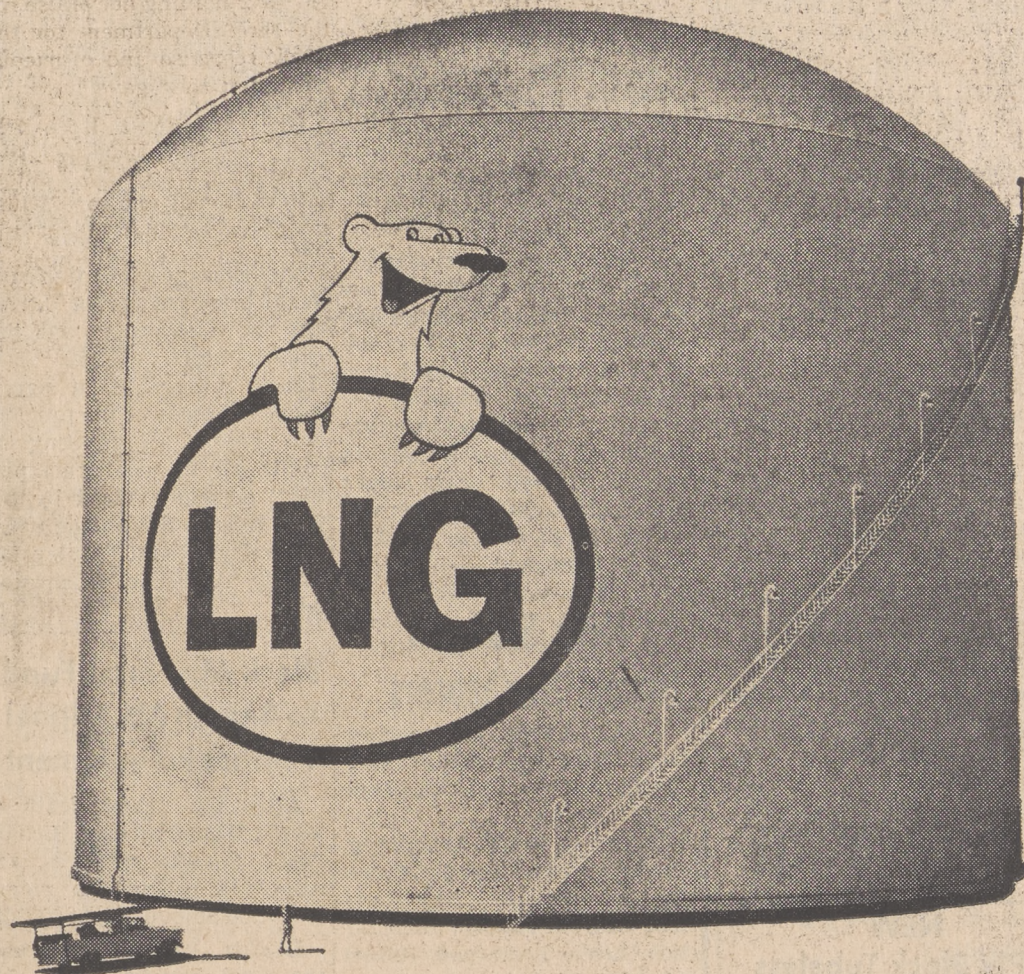

Seven Camp Sessions Set For Camp Fire Girls

"To Be A Child" has been chosen as the summer-long theme for the seven camp sessions at Camp Wolahi, the San Diego County Council of Camp Fire Girls' resident facility near Lake Cuyamaca.

Some 900 girls are expected to register for the camp sessions which begin July 4 and end on August 29. Registration opened April 3. An additional 1700 girls are expected to attend the council's 11 day camps which are scheduled throughout San Diego County. Day camp registration will open May 1.

Miss Karen Koeder, the council's camping director, will be in charge of the Wolahi staff which will include some 30 counselors. All camp sessions are one week except for an 11-day session from July 23 through August 4.

Camp Wolahi covers some 60 acres of wooded land and has a heated pool for instruction and free-time swimming.

Like the assurance that you'll get the best possible gas service at the lowest possible rates.

When natural gas is cooled to -258°F, it turns into liquid, shrinking to 1/600th of its original volume. It's then called liquefied natural gas or LNG.

This process allows us to buy more natural gas than our customers use in the summertime, and store it. When usage soars in the cooler winter months, we revaporize it for distribution. Because this is a more economical way to buy gas, it helps us keep gas rates as low as possible.

We've just built a new LNG tank that's tripled our storage capacity. This means we can expand new uses for LNG.

We're now transporting it by tanker truck to serve customers isolated from our gas lines.

We've also been using LNG as a clean burning fuel for a "Polar Bear" fleet of vehicles, including cars, trucks, and buses. It's an economical fuel that nearly eliminates smog-producing pollutants.

Liquefied natural gas... another way we're exploring the economy energies of tomorrow.

Grossmont District Graduates Doing Well According To Report

Grossmont High School District graduates are "holding their own in an increasingly competitive college environment," according to a report released by District officials.

The report compares grade-point averages of recent Grossmont High School District graduates with all freshmen students attending San Diego State College, and all branches of the University of California.

The report shows 137 graduates of the class of 1969 attended various branches of the University of California, an increase of 25 students. Grossmont District students maintained a first year academic average of 2.80 on a scale of 4.0.

The average of all freshmen at all branches of the University of California was just slightly higher at 2.82. "Both figures represented a significant increase over the previous two years, representing the continually increasing competitive pressures faced by our graduates in the college world of today," said Stanley McClintic, Associate Superintendent.

California Vehicle Registration Increases

California vehicle registrations increased by almost one half million during 1970, Department of Motor Vehicles figures show.

DMV Director Robert C. Cozens said vehicles registered in the State on December 31, 1970, totaled 13,818,869 — an increase of 495,918 over 1969.

Nevertheless, the 3.72 percent growth in vehicle population reflects a relatively poor year in the automobile industry, and compares with increases of 5.16 percent in 1969 and 6.3 percent in 1968.

Motorcycle registrations continued to soar, hitting a total of 561,621 — a one-year increase of 92,188 or 19.6 percent.

No less than 200,000 motorcycles have been put on the roads of California in just three years.

Monarchs Best Matadors In Prep Baseball Action

Mount Miguel's baseball team moved to within shouting distances of a post-season playoff berth last week by splitting a pair of games, but Monte Vista's split didn't help the Monarchs much, as they dropped to a tie for the cellar.

As play opened Tuesday, Monte Vista and Mount Miguel squared off on the Monte Vista diamond. The Matadors carried a 2-2 record into the game, while the hapless Monarchs brought a 1-3 record into the contest.

Mike Smith started on the mound for the Matadors, but had trouble locating the strike zone, allowing three runs to Several athletes from Lemon Grove and Spring Valley were on hand and fared well in the competition.

In the boys 8 & 9 years old class, Maryland School won the team title with 21 points. No athletes from Lemon Grove or Spring Valley were entered.

In the boys 10 & 11 years old class, La Mesa Dale took the team title with 30 points. In the competition, Paul Beaudoin, of Avondale School in Spring Valley, placed second in the 440 and third in the shot put, while a Rancho School relay team of Rich Toney, Kevin Bland, Ron Cole, and John Stuck took second place in the 220 relay.

In the boys 12 & 13 years old class, Parkway Junior High ran off with the title, getting 44 points.

In the competition, Ken Hanson, of Spring Valley Junior High took first in the shot put, tossing it 41'3", missing his own record by 18 inches, which he set last year.

Arturo Spaan, of Avondale, took third in the 220 and anchored a third place relay team. Bill Smith, of La Presa Juniata was touched for one more run before the Matadors could get on the scoreboard in the top of the seventh. The game ended with Monte Vista on top, 4-1.

On Friday, it was a different story for both teams, as Mount Miguel mutilated El Capitan, 8-3, and Monte Vista lost to rebounding Helix, 6-0.

Before play started on Friday, Monte Vista and Mount Miguel were knotted with Helix, Grossmont, El Capitan, and El Cajon for third place, with 2-3 marks.

After Friday's game, the standings read Mount Miguel and Helix tied for third with 3-3 marks, a game behind Granite Hills, 4-2. Monte Vista was tied for the cellar spot with Grossmont, El Capitan, and El Cajon, all 2-4.

Padre Bullpen To See Action On Road Trip

If pitching is 75 percent of baseball, as the game's sleuths maintain, then what percent of good pitching is an efficient bullpen?

"Much more than you think," Padre pitching coach Roger Craig says with emphasis. "A relief pitcher can make a starter look good without ever making him look bad."

And it is of great comfort to Craig, as well as to the team, that the Padre bulls in the bullpen this year appear to be of prime quality.

"I'm more than pleased with our bullpen so far," said manager Gomez as the team left early today on a 10-game road trip that will deposit them in Atlanta, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh.

"Relief pitching this spring was considered to be one of our weaknesses. Now it appears to be one of our strengths."

The Padres open a four game series in Atlanta tomorrow night. Then the team moves to Cincinnati for three games and on to Pittsburgh for a concluding three game series.

The Braves will be the opposition when the Padres open an eight-game home stand at San Diego Stadium May 4. There's the first two-night doubleheader scheduled for May 5 and then Helix Night will be celebrated against the Cincinnati Reds Friday evening May 7. All youngsters 15 and under who purchase a ticket to the May 7 game will receive a souvenir Padre helmet.

Tickets for the games with the Braves and Helix Night with the Reds are available at the Padre Stadium ticket windows that are open daily at 10 a.m. and at Ticketron outlets located throughout San Diego County.

Avondale, who finished third in the 50; Sue Anne Speir, of Avondale, who took third in the 100, and helped her relay team take second place; Lorrie Hibert, of Spring Valley School, who took second in the standing long jump; Kathy Drake, of Avondale who took second in the baseball throw and helped her relay team to second place; and Kathy Buchanan and Lynette Stucky, who helped the Avondale relay team to second place.

In the girls 12 & 13 class, Parkway Junior High took top honors with 25 points. In the competition, Karla Brehches, of La Presa Jr. High, took second in the 880 and first in the high jump.

Helix High picked up 11 points in the girls 14 & 15 years old class to edge Greenfield Junior High, who had 10 tallies. Peggy Bertsch, of Lemon Grove Jr. High, took second in the 440 and third in the long jump.

Rounding out the competition was the girls 16-18 class, which Helix High won with 14 points. No local schools were entered.

All point totals were figured with first place earning five points, second place getting three points, and third place earning one point.

Matadors, Eagles Have Bad Moments Enroute To Track Showdown April 30

As the Grossmont League track and field dual meet season draws toward a Hollywood finish, the two leading players, Granite Hills and Mount Miguel, probably thought they were mis-cast in horror films last Friday.

The Mount Miguel Matadors were being entertained by the El Capitan Vaqueros Friday, the usually strong track crew from Spring Valley could win only four running events, including the mile, both hurdle events, and the mile relay.

Fortunately for Brian Smith's front-runners in the league race, the Mats won all but one of the field events to claim their fifth straight league victory.

At Granite Hills, the second-place Eagles received the scare of their lives, as they escaped with a 69-67 win over Monte Vista.

At El Capitan, it was Bill Fudge leading off for the Vaqueros in the 100-yard dash, nipping Miguel's Milton Johnson at the tape. Both runners were clocked in 10.2.

Larry Tyler kept the score close for Miguel, taking third place. In the 220, it was Fudge again collecting the five points for El Cap, while Tyler was second and Larry Minard took third, once again keeping the score close for Miguel.

Rick Bridges brought the crowd to its feet in the 440, nipping Mount Miguel's Mike Dougherty at the tape to help the Vaqueros. Both runners were credited with 52.5 for the distance.

Things changed a bit as the two teams squared off in the mile, as Bob Morrison helped his team to even the score a bit, clocking 4:32.2 and leading a 1-3 punch.

Mount Miguel went on to further their point total when the hurdle events came up. Jerry Eubanks collected five points for his win in the 120-yards, and Milton Johnson and Eubanks took 1-2 in the 180-yards.

The Vaqueros took the 440-relay and Mount Miguel claimed the mile relay.

In the field events, it was John Slater winning the high jump for the Spring Valley school, while teammates John Burke, John Heimaster, Mike King, and Bill Brown all contributed first place points.

Burke took top honors in the long jump, Heimaster nailed down the win in the triple jump, Brown took the first place ribbon in the pole vault, and King won his specialty, the shot put.

The only sweep in the meet was in the discus, where El Cap's Jim Fulcher, Bill Dawson, and Dan Smith took 1-2-3.

At Granite Hills, the Eagles and Monte Vista were as even as two teams can be without ending up in a tie.

Comics to Frolic In Golf Classic

Although more than six weeks away, the 1971 list of entries in the Comedians' Golf Classic to be played at the La Costa C.C., May 21-22, already looks like a "who's who" of celebrity golf.

Among those who indicated that they will be on hand for the Comedians' 10th Annual funfest include Jack Carter, last year's Mulligan Award winner, Milton Berle, Fred MacMurray, and sidekick William Demarest, former Chairman Dick Martin, Peter Lind Hayes, Phil Ford (& Mimi Fines — the only gal to have ever played in the Classic).

Also, "F Troop's" Forest Tucker, Jim Nabors' Marine Sgt. pal, Frank Sutton, and "Name Of The Game's" Robert Stack.

"Let's Make A Deal," star Monty Hall will conduct their comedy auction of May 21st, assisted by little Billy Barty and a bevy of starlets. Monty will be playing, along with Lawrence Welk, Larry Wilde (currently breaking records at Las Vegas' Desert Inn), Mickey Manners, last year's winner Jackie Coogan and Gary Morton, who is also the Mulligan Awards Dinner Chairman. Gary's wife Lucille Ball is also expected to be on hand to make a presentation or two.

Then there's "Beverly Hills Billies" star Max Baer, tv's Goober—George Lindsey, Corbett Monica, Dennis James, Bill Cosby and Maxwell Smart, himself . . . better known as Don Adams. Of course, Chairman of the event, this year, Jack Lemmon says he'll be there, too, demonstrating his famous "Human Hinge" swing.

Among the sports world celebrities: Don Drysdale, Joe Namath, Joe Di Maggio, Tom Harmon and last year's Pro of the Year — Gene Littler are also expected.

Friends of Handicapped Children's Therapeutic Swimming Pool project benefits from the event. Ticket information may be obtained by writing to P.O. Box 1892, La Jolla, CA 92037 or calling (714) 459-8255.

NO SCORE — Yolanda Littleton, of the Quota Club Midgets of the Lemon Grove Bobby Sox League, crosses home plate for what she thought was another run in her team's win over the Skyline TV Gremlins last Saturday. Unfortunately, the official scorer had other ideas, pointing out that the third out was made before she crossed the plate. Her run was not necessary, anyway, as the Midgets bounced the Gremlins, 11-8.

Three Teams Win To Open Bobby Sox Play

Lemon Grove Bobby Sox League action got underway last Saturday with two major league games and one minor league contest played, and another minor league game called because of rain.

In the first game of the season for major leaguers, it was the Quota Club Midgets blasting the Skyline TV Gremlins with a seventh inning rally to wine, 11-8. Cathy Patterson and Yolanda Littleton both hit doubles for the winners.

Highlighting the day's action was Gina Giacinto's efforts in the second major league game, Gina, pitching for the Lions Club Lionettes, tossed a no hitter as her club won, 4-0 over the Lemon Grove Boosters Angels.

Gina allowed several walks in the game, but a game defensive unit behind her protected the shutout.

In the only minor league game played, Thomas and Sons Disposal Stylists squeezed by the IAM Lodge 2215 Emeralds, 13-11.

With the score tied in the seventh inning, Dee Dee Jackson sacrificed to bring in the winning run. Robin Adams singled moments later to create the two-run margin.

Other highlights in the game included a sparkling pitching performance by reliever Sue Grantham and a pair of doubles by Tammy Cole for the losers.

The first minor league game of the day, between the Lemon Grove Chrysler-Plymouth Crickets and the Nalco Plumbing Pipers, was cancelled when rain fell. The game will be played at a later date.

Renaissance Faire Set to Open Today at Grossmont

An array of dramatic productions, a Pro Musica Consort, and the screening of the motion picture "Camelot" will highlight the opening of Grossmont College's first Renaissance Faire today.

The Faire will get underway this morning at 9 a.m. on campus, celebrating and recreating the sounds and spirit of the Medieval Holidays.

Dramatic productions will include "Commedia dell'arte" featuring Don MacLeod and his Mime Troupe; "Comic Characters in Shakespeare," portrayed by Eric Christmas, University of California at San Diego and director of the National Shakespearean Festival; "Gammer Gorton's Needle," featuring the Grossmont College Griffin Players, directed by Clark Mires; and a preview of outstanding scenes from "Volpone" scheduled to open in the college's Stagehouse Theatre on May 6, 1971. "Volpone" will be directed by James W. Baker.

Martin F. Gerrish will direct a fight scene from "Taming of the Shrew"; student readers representing the English department, directed by Carole Duffy, will present "Sacred and Profane Readings" while student members of the Forensic Workshop will present readings from "Lion in Winter" directed by Taylor McKenzie. Readings from "Romeo and Juliet" and "Lysistrata" will also be presented by the Forensic Workshop under the direction of James Reynolds.

The award-winning "Camelot," scheduled for two screenings during the four-day faire and "The Titan," a filmed story of Michelangelo will round out the dramatic productions that will be presented throughout all four days of the faire.

Another highlight of the Faire will be the screening of "Camelot" at 1 and 7:30 p.m. today in the Griffin Theatre.

Winner of four Academy Awards, "Camelot," directed by Joshua Logan, features the talents of Vanessa Redgrave, Richard Harris and David Hemmings. Because "Camelot" talks with its beauty rather than its size, it features an intimacy of relationship, a real presence to the legendary Camelot.

Both a musical and love story, it is also a plea for understanding. Set in the days of King Arthur, his Knights of the Roundtable and Queen Guinevere, the film captures the emotions of the people, their characters' desires and hopes, resulting in the mood of the time then and now.

The public is invited to visit the Faire and enjoy the romantic musical. Charge for admission to "Camelot" is $1, with tickets available at the door.

Grossmont College's Office of Community Services will present the Robert Clements

Pro Musica Consort at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Griffin Theatre. In keeping with the spirit of the Faire, the instrumental group will play instruments of the Renaissance Period.

Featuring krumphorns, harpsichord, organ and recorders, the consort will play music to enhance the mood of the occasion using authentic old instruments or exact reproductions. All are made of wood. Their program will include music from Shakespeare's plays in addition to many other works appropriate to the Renaissance Period.

Robert Clements, with an impressive background as a recorder soloist, has been featured with the Huntington Beach Symphony, Los Angeles County Museum chamber music broadcasts and the Long Beach Museum of Art's concert series.

He has been acclaimed for his work with the University of California at Los Angeles' recorder classes and its Recorder Conferences at Lake Arrowhead, the Idyllwild Arts Foundation, and the American and Southern California Recorder Societies.

The "Griffin Players" of the college will celebrate the Faire with their production of "Gammer Gorton's Needle." The production is scheduled for ten performances during the four-day Faire, commencing today.

Directed by Clark G. Mires, the comedy, set in the Renaissance period, will be performed in a pageant or gypsy wagon at various locations on the campus. Performed against a background of guitar playing and singing, "Gammer Gorton's Needle" will be staged both in the daytime and evening.

The cast list for "Gammer Gorton's Needle" includes: Diccon, portrayed by Tom Bourke; Hodge, played by Jim Hutton; Tib by Lynn Nelson and Cock played by Dennis Burton; Gammer Gorton, played by Feliza Caughlin, Spring Valley; Dame Chat portrayed by Cheri Enid, Lemon Grove; Doctor Rat played by Harry Cannon; Doll played by Penny Ross, and Scrapethrift played by Paul Stephens and Master Bayly played by Joe Potoky.

Stage Manager for the unique production of a low-class comedy of the Renaissance is Monica Hutchens. Prologue Master for the production is Byron La Due. There is no charge for admission.

THE PHONE BOOTH

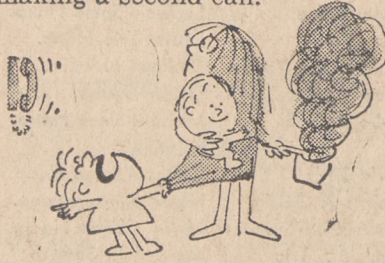

If you're someone who likes to browse through books, there's one book I recommend that's really worthwhile. It's the telephone directory, especially the front pages. They're full of information about Area Codes, emergency numbers and how to make different types of calls—plus many other useful facts. There's even an index to save you time in finding what you need. So browse through them, and be sure you're taking advantage of all the service that goes with your telephone.

It's a good idea to make it easy for business associates and friends to call you by including your Area Code and telephone number on your stationery and business cards. With today's low-cost, fast long distance service, more and more people are answering their correspondence with a convenient two way phone call.

When you're dialing a call, it's always considerate to give people time to stop what they're doing and get to the phone. It's courteous to wait about 10 rings before deciding there's no one home. And it may save making a second call.

'Plaza Suite' Opens At Off-Broadway Theatre

By Lynn Jones

The Off Broadway Theatre, 314 3rd & F Street, opened April 14 with "Plaza Suite." This opening night production, directed by Jack Ragotzy, received the full red carpet treatment. There were such people as Miss Joan Crawford, Mrs. Jesse White, and Mr. Marvin Miller in the audience.

"Plaza Suite" is a three act comedy by Neil Simon with a cast of five. The cast includes Dana Andrews and Pamela Britton, who play the leading roles. Michael Biers, Michael Phillips and Candy Chappel make up the rest of the cast. Each of these players play more than one role.

Lynn Jones

The show is really three plays which take place in the Plaza Hotel. The Plaza Hotel is a New York landmark in which it can be seen in such T.V. shows as "Barefoot in the Park." The first act is about a married couple celebrating their 24th wedding anniversary in the same hotel room as their first honeymoon. The husband is a big success in business, and the wife is a very sentimental person. It would seem that nothing could go wrong, but it does. It turns out to be a very funny, witty and sarcastic act.

The second act is about the renewal of an old high school romance. The man is a big Hollywood producer who has been married several times and wants someone very badly. The woman is a dumb blonde who has a family. This act is very exciting in that you can never tell what will happen next, especially after a few drinks.

The third act is very typical. A young couple are going to get married and everything is just perfect, when at the last moment the girl looks herself in the bathroom. It tells of the trouble the mother and father have in trying to get her out before the wedding starts.

The play, as a whole, is done beautifully. The two stars really make the parts seem real, like an everyday happening. The play is a timely one and may hit a spot of recognition in everyone. It will be something to remember.

Dana Andrews is a clergyman's son. He has been in films, like "Laura," "Best Years of Our Lives," "My Foolish Heart," and many more. He has been on Broadway in "Two for the Seesaw," and did the "Bright Promise" on NBC T.V. last season. He is free-lancing right now.

Pamela Britton has appeared in such films as "Anchors Aweigh," "Letter for Evie," "Key to the City," "Duchess of Idaho," and "D.O.A." She has been on such T.V. shows as "Blondie" and "My Favorite Martian," as "Mrs. Brown." Her most recent films have been "Suppose They Gave a War and Nobody Came," and "If It's Tuesday, This Must Be Belgium."

Michael Biers took his Bachelor of Arts degree last year at San Diego State College. He has had many leading and featured roles at the Old Globe Theatre. His credits include "Charley's Aunt," "The Hostage," "Private Lives," and "The Time of Your Life."

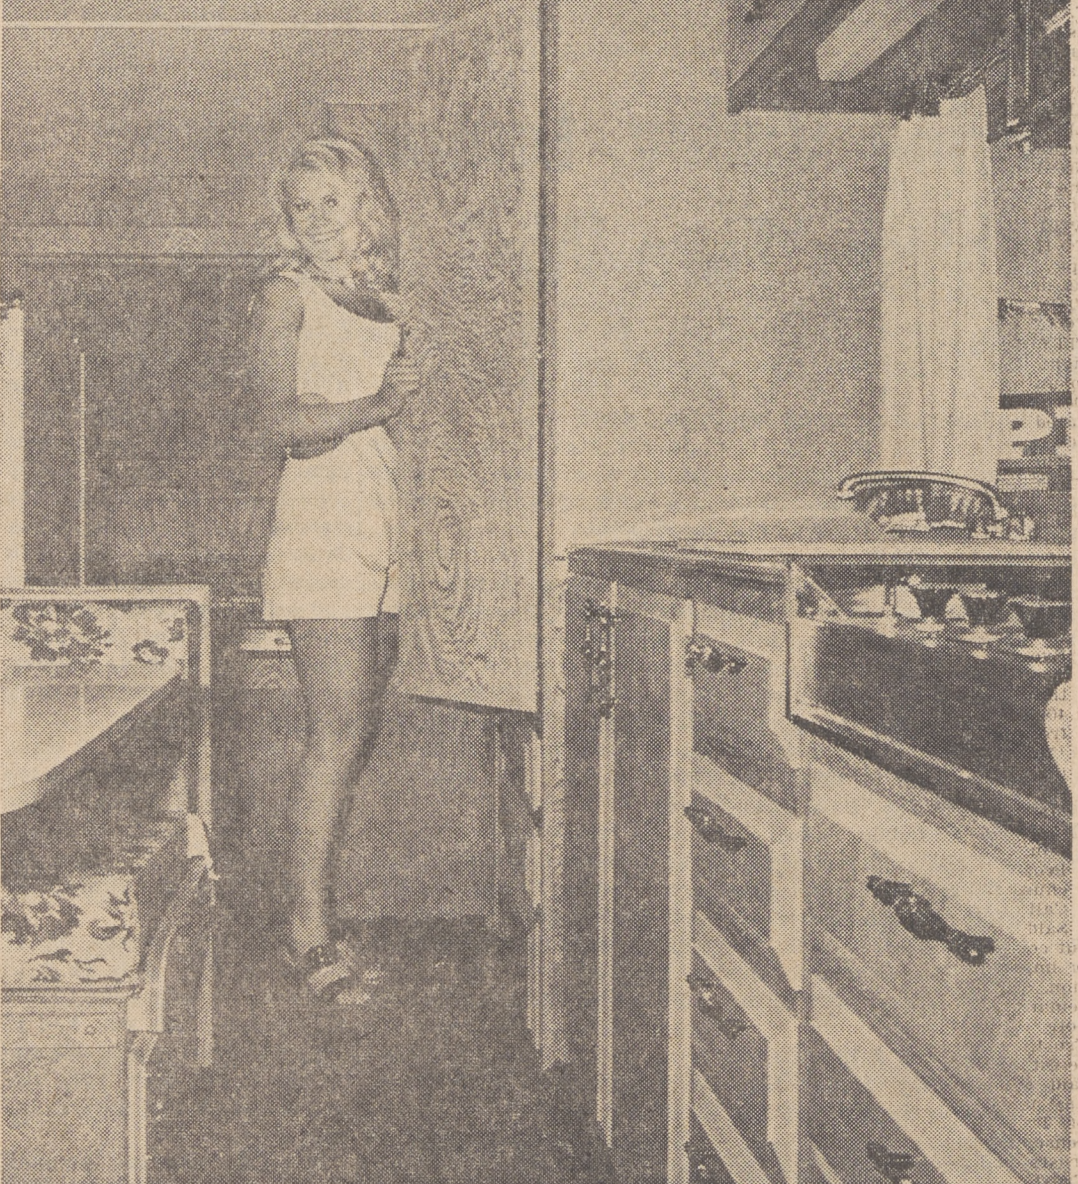

Michael Phillips holds a Master of Arts degree in Theatre Arts from San Diego State College. He has appeared in leading roles for the Old Globe Theatre, and was featured in seven Starlight Opera productions. He has staged four musical reviews for the Music Box Little Theatre in El Cajon. He has appeared in "Charley" at the Globe.

Candy Chappel is a Theatre major at San Diego State College where she recently appeared as Amanda in a revival of Noel Coward's "Private Lives." She has directed "Bell, Book and Candle" and several one-act plays at a local high school.

"Plaza Suite" can be seen through May 9. The curtain rises on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Fridays at 8:30 p.m.; on Thursdays and Saturdays at 2:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.; on Sundays at 5 p.m. For reservations call 235-6335.

On Sunday, April 25, Chicago will appear in concert at 5 p.m. in the San Diego Sports Arena. This group is a big band playing jazz, classics, rock and roll, brass and a lot more. The group is more or less experimental in that it is not afraid to make any musical attempt that will yield further progress.

The group includes Lee Loughane, trumpet; Daniel Seraphine, drums; Peter Cetera, bass and vocals; James Pankow, trombone; Robert Lamm, keyboards and vocals; Walt Parazalder, woodwinds and Terry Kath, guitar.

CAMPER — Cindy Davis, San Diego State College coed from Spring Valley, has been chosen Miss Recreational Vehicle Show 1971 by the producers of the 4th annual San Diego Sports, Vacation & Recreation Vehicle Show, which will open for a five-day stand at the International Sports Arena May 5. Cindy is inspecting one of more than 350 new recreational vehicles — valued in excess of $1.5 million — that will be displayed at the exposition, largest of its kind ever staged in San Diego County. In addition to the many recreational vehicles, the show will feature hunting and camping gear, resort and vacation planning exhibits, free Sunset Magazine Travel Film Festival, trout fishing ponds, a big stage show and much more.

High School Board Expels Six Students

The Grossmont Union High School District Board of Trustees met Monday night and expelled six students for violations of the district's narcotics policy, put three students on probation for violations, and reinstated 10 students who had been expelled previously.

In executive session for nearly four hours, trustees expelled the four boys and two girls, bringing to 610 the number of students who have been expelled under the district's four-year-old policy.

All three students placed on probation were from Granite Hills High School, and the six students expelled included one student from Monte Vista High School.

The ten students reinstated to schools in the district brought to 547 the number of students who have been readmitted under the policy. Students expelled are eligible to be admitted as soon as they apply for reinstatement under policy revisions made last year.

After application for readmission, trustees review the cases and take action on the matter.

In other action, trustees approved plans for development of the ninth high school, received a report from a citizen's committee studying use of school facilities, and heard a report on a model drug program held at Grossmont High School last week.

Consumer Protection Is Aim Of Sealer Of Weights, Measures

"Consumer protection" is one of the new catch phrases sweeping the country. President Nixon has a special advisor; law enforcement agencies everywhere are getting in to high gear to change the old rule of "buyer beware" to "seller take care."

Stephen R. Miller, San Diego County Sealer of Weights and Measures, is unruffled by the sudden enthusiasm. "Consumer protection has been standard operating procedure in San Diego County for 57 years," he comments, "ever since this position was established in 1914." His office is involved in most of the daily activities of every County resident.

Everyone eats. The Sealer's deputies inspect all scales in wholesale and retail food stores — meat scales, hanging produce scales, counter computing scales — to make sure you get what you pay for. They also inspect packages from the shelves such as cereals or cake mixes for proper weight and labeling.

The department also checks gasoline, motor oil, antifreeze, brake fluid, diesel and outboard motor fuel for quality and correct labeling as well as accuracy of pumps and other measuring devices.

Almost everyone orders medicine. The druggists' prescription scales are inspected, as are jewelers' scales.

If you sew, the little device totaling the yards of fabric you buy has been inspected, as well as the yardsticks measuring trimmings.

These inspections are made throughout urban as well as rural San Diego County — in the city supermarkets, department stores, service stations, and wholesale houses, as well as in the country stores and one-gas-pump garages.

W. E. Crane, the original Sealer of Weights and Measures recorded six inspections on his first day of action in 1914. These included hanging scales at a "Candy and Fountain" and a grocery, a blacksmith whose platform scales were out of order, scales at a "Maker of Jellies," and computing scales at a pool hall.

By 1915, inspections had risen to 15 or 20 a day and gas pumps were being checked.

Today, Miller has 9 deputies and a chief deputy on the go all the time. They inspect 150 measuring devices a day of which 9% are found defective. A half million packages on the shelves are checked for weight and proper labeling; 10% are unsatisfactory and withdrawn from sale.

Miller emphasizes that most sellers are honest. But his deputies find some ingenious schemes.

He points out several ways an unscrupulous service station owner can cut corners. Substituting reclaimed or low quality oil for the brand name, requested in an oil change is simple; how many people check to see if they got what they ordered?

The department has a special car for checking oil changes. All that oil doesn't go into the crankcase; some drains into a small cup. This oil goes to the State laboratory at Downey and is analyzed; if it is not the brand, weight, and quality requested, action is taken.

If a deputy spots a pile of empty oil cans, he is suspicious. There is no reason to keep them unless the owner intends to refill them with inferior oil; it is easy to substitute an already opened can, with a pouring spout stuck in, for an unopened can.

Miller encourages calls from San Diego County citizens reporting possible violations — short weight, gasoline overcharges, mislabeled meat or other packaged goods.

"We need your calls," he states. "Routine checks can't catch all the violators. For instance, take the moving business. We check the scales used to weigh the vans. They may be accurate, but a dishonest rig driver can make moving day costly."

"We'd particularly like to crack down on dishonest wood sellers," Miller says. "A cord of wood measures 4' x 4' x 8', and this means stacked reasonably solidly. If someone offers you a cord of wood cheap, make sure he stacks it so you can measure it. Then if you feel you've not received the full cord you paid for, call us."

The quiz will go to more than 140,000 households, and Van Deerlin said he hopes for a sizeable response to "provide a valid measurement of 37th district."

Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-San Diego, is sounding out constituents on these and other issues, in a questionnaire being sent this week to postal patrons in the 37th Congressional District. Households wanting extra copies can obtain them by contacting Van Deerlin's San Diego office.

Most of the 15 questions concern matters directly before Congress. Others are designed to explore constituent views on issues of general national concern, such as the Calley case. And one question is on a decision already taken by Congress, to scuttle the Supersonic Transport project.

Other topics include the military draft, the credibility of Government progress reports about the war in Indochina, air pollution, a guaranteed minimum income, health care, wage-price controls, political campaign spending, the sale and use of marijuana, "no fault" auto insurance and the desirability of setting a deadline for withdrawal of U. S. forces from the war.

Van Queries Constituents

WASHINGTON — Should last week's visit of a U.S. Ping-Pong team to the Chinese mainland signal a thaw in our relations with Communist China?

Was the Calley verdict just? Will President Nixon win reelection next year? Should J. Edgar Hoover be retired?

Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-San Diego, is sounding out constituents on these and other issues, in a questionnaire being sent this week to postal patrons in the 37th Congressional District. Households wanting extra copies can obtain them by contacting Van Deerlin's San Diego office.

WEIGHT WATCHERS — Fred J. Mayer, Deputy Sealer of Weights and Measures puts his special brass weights on a computing scale in a local supermarket under the interested gaze of young customers Lori and Mark Thomas, of San Diego.

Mayer, of Bonita, will inspect every scale in the store, in the unloading and packaging areas, as well as those for customer and checker use. This offers two-way protection, assuring customer of full weight, and assuring proprietor that he's not short-weighting himself.

2,000 Horses to Compete This Year at Del Mar Fair

DEL MAR — Some 2,000 horses are expected to compete in junior and open divisions of the Southern California Exposition's National Horse Show, one of the world's largest, during the June 24-July 5 run of the fair.

Expanded this year under the direction of Alan F. Balch, who took over the show succeeding the late Eric Atterbury, the event will offer more classes and prize money for jumpers, green hunters, Shetland ponies and American saddle horses. Stake prizes will also be increased for five-gaited saddle horses and stock horses.

Entry deadline will be observed on May 24. Premium books may be obtained by writing, calling or going to the Exposition affairs.

The Horse Show will be divided into junior classes from June 24 through 27 and senior divisions from June 28 through July 5.

Jumpers will perform every evening and on the final weekend. Hunters will be seen daily at both morning and afternoon shows.

Special features of this year's entirely new show will be Arabian horses with riders in the long flowing robes native to that part of the world, parade horses with silver saddles and bridles and a ladies' side saddle class in which riders wear traditional attire dating back to the last century.

There will also be a colorful Gambler's Choice Jumper Sweepstakes offered here for the first time on the night of July 3. Each rider will determine his own course, the degree of difficulty adding points to a successful performance.

Balch also indicated that the time factor will be a consideration in more jumper classes this year, thus putting a premium on speed.

This year's Horse Show will be recognized by the American Horse Show Association.

Separate judges will serve the open and junior divisions. Those presiding over the open show are Mrs. Frances N. Rowe of Crozier, Virginia, Leonard W. Hook of Mexico, Missouri and John W. Hoyt of Phoenix, Arizona. Junior judges will be Earl Frazier of Marietta, Georgia, Don McDaniel

Senator Clair Burgener has introduced a bill to amend the Education Code Provision on the time for salary payments to classified employees of school districts. Under the present law, classified (non-teaching employees) are paid once per month. Burgener's bill would permit school districts to pay classified employees at the same times as certified employees are paid. Certified employees currently are paid monthly, once each two weeks, twice a month, or once each four weeks.

According to Burgener, his bill will make possible not only greater flexibility in the manner in which classified employees are paid, but also should result in considerable savings to school districts through reduction in the number of payroll processed. School boards will be able to adjust payroll schedules to local conditions for employee convenience.

Harold J. Logan, president and general manager of the Grossmont Shopping Center, has joined Grossmont College speech instructor, Neil Towne as co-moderator of the Second Campus Planning Seminars.

School Pay Bill Posed By Burgener

Senator Clair Burgener has introduced a bill to amend the Education Code Provision on the time for salary payments to classified employees of school districts. Under the present law, classified (non-teaching employees) are paid once per month. Burgener's bill would permit school districts to pay classified employees at the same times as certified employees are paid. Certified employees currently are paid monthly, once each two weeks, twice a month, or once each four weeks.

According to Burgener, his bill will make possible not only greater flexibility in the manner in which classified employees are paid, but also should result in considerable savings to school districts through reduction in the number of payroll processed. School boards will be able to adjust payroll schedules to local conditions for employee convenience.
